THE British ship Atlanta (Captain McBride) and Brewster (Captain Griffith), which cleared from New York on April 6 are reported to be racing to Shanghai, for a bet, the stakes being $500 gold. The Atlanta is 1,630 tons and was launched at Glasgow in 1885; The Brewster is 1,354 tons and was launched at Newcastle-on-Tyne in 1889.

THE steerman of the steamlanch Kwong Yee, which collided with a cargo boat in the harbor on the 18th inst. was charged on remand at the Magistracy yesterday afternoon with the manslaughter of a woman and child who were drowned through the capsizing of the boat. After hearing evidence Commander Hastings discharged defendant.

one of the uses for which balloons may be employed is the investigation of the sea bottom. It has been found by aeronauts that frequently the bottom is clearly visible from a balloon through the water. This fact has recently been made use of to recover a torpedo boat which had been lost off Toulon. Not only was this found, but also two others, which had vanished at an earlier date.

THE "White Lilies" have then up to their old tricks in Kiangsu and dabbling in occultism come more, to the disturbance of the native mind. Their peculiar cult requires them to whip off the pincurls of any promiscuous Chinaman they can grab in convenient loneliness, and, if this is not possible, to rob stray fowls of their feathers. There are no end of featherless fowls in a certain district and the people are very excited, fearing all sort of witcheries.

THE Osaka Mainichi states that there are numerous cases of sickness in the Tochigi prison, the majority suffering from a dangerous affection of the lungs, and this is gradually increasing. The patients now number 42. The authorities are very much concerned about the matter and propose asking the Pietacular Assembly to vote a sum of money for the purpose of erecting a hospital building. The spread of the disease is ascribed to the incompetency of the prison doctors.

DR. NANSEN, it is reported, is saying hard things about the newspapers. He is credited with the remark that one of the pleasant things about the Arctic regions is that there are no newspapers there. This is injudicious. But for the newspapers Nansen would hardly be known outside of Norway; if even a man's reputation was made by the newspapers Nansen's is that reputation. If he means the American newspaper interviewer, well enough, but why condemn all newspapers because those Yankees worry?

THE Journal des Debats sorrowfully admits that the Republic has scarcely been happy with her Colonial Railways, for those which she has made weigh heavily upon her finances, and work under deplorable conditions. "The Soedan Railway," it says, "is legendary; that which runs from Dakar to St. Louis has caused heavy loss; and it is useless to speak of the line to Langson, which has cost five times more than the colonial administration estimated, and now that it has been finished it is necessary to reconstruct it throughout."

A JOURNALIST whose Existdified "copy" from Newport was sadly mispunctuated determined that he would have no such bungling in his narrative of the Penryn quarries settlement. As a result, at least one daily paper received about a column of telegram of which the following will serve for sample:—"The men's leaders thought they had gained a great victory point quotes who was the effect of the strike on the slate trade: a quotes asked one of the most experienced quarry managers in North Wales quotes the slate trade and quotes he replied quotes is in a curious position point."

GUMMER Stockings, one of the Artillerymen who arrived yesterday from England, met with a serious accident at about 8:30 p.m. yesterday. He was fooling round on the balcony at Victoria Barracks and went over the railing, falling a distance of between 20 and 30 ft. When picked up and taken to the hospital at Wellington Barracks he was unconscious and remained so until 6:30 a.m. to-day. His skull appears to have escaped injury but he is badly hurt internally. The Medical Officers hope to pull him through before long. As his comrades say, it was pretty hard luck to signalise one's arrival after this fashion.

NEWS reached Sydney lately that one of the Japanese training ships, named the Kingo, had started from Tokio on a visit to the colonies. The warship has on board 33 graduates of the Naval College in Japan. Her voyage is expected to occupy 163 days from the time of leaving Japan. Sydney, Melbourne, and some other principal ports in Australia are to be visited, and the return voyage will be made via the Fiji Group. The Kingo is composite built, and has a displacement of 3200 tons, her length being 231 ft., beam 40 ft., guns, and draught 17 ft., etc. She was built in 1877. She carries nine guns of heavy calibre.

AT the Temora (N.S.W.) police court the other day Norman M'Leod was charged with assaulting Mr. Lucas, Mayor of Temora, with a view in "Hoekies-street" on Thursday morning. M'Leod pleaded guilty, but stated that he acted under strong provocation on account of some thing published about his sister in the Temora Star, of which Lucas is editor. The solicitor for the defence read several extracts from the Star which made allusion to M'Leod's sister, and was put to the bench that no gentleman could allow such remarks to pass without chastisement. The bench fined M'Leod 40s, which was collected in-court in a few minutes. Although over £55 was offered to pay any fine that might be imposed.

A CORRESPONDENT sends the following to home paper:—"The new cycle tyre, which is causing some anxiety to the Dunlop directors and other holders of patents, is simple enough in its design and construction, if it will only stand the test of work. Inside the rim of the wheel is fixed what may be called a diaphragm of a strong and well-nigh indestructible silk tissue. This being stretched tight, with the air space at its back, is expected to give quite as much resiliency as any pneumatic tyre, possessing moreover, the advantage of being capable of adjustment to the weight of the rider. Over this is put a hollow Indian rubber tyre, the interior being packed with cotton shavings or some similar light and elastic material. This may be slipped freely by a screw or nail, but even the point of a bayonet could hardly reach the diaphragm behind."

ANGR." Davis" Counts got on the track of a gambling school at Pok Luk lane last night and with some other officers he raided the place. Five prisoners were bagged and to-day the first was fined $30 or two months for running the show and the others were fined $3 each or 10 days for being found in the place.

A CANADIAN paper says: "It was thought that the price of labour in Germany was about as low as it could be hammered down to, and in this, together with the long hours, and Sunday labour in many parts as has been alleged, lay the secret of Germany's ability to compete with the countries where workmen are more liberally paid, with shorter hours, and 'St. Monday' honoured. But one section of German industry is to receive a still further cut. The landowners of Mecklenburg are introducing Chinese upon their estates, as they will work more cheaply, and this may enable the farmer to make profit even at the low price of their product. The Chinese live on a lower plane than any other people, and therefore they can afford to work more cheaply. It is this constant cheapening of the price of labour in Continental countries that makes it so hard for British manufacturers, who, in order to keep their footing, are forced to divide the cut with their employers."

A CORRESPONDENT of The Engineer who signs himself Alfred Jingle, propounds the following lucid problem—"A group of half a dozen physicians, all eminent; a sheet of paper; a pencil. With the latter one of the group draws a pulley, a cord over the pulley, a tree, a bough from which the pulley hangs. To one end of the cord is attached a stone: to the other end clings a monkey. The stone balances the monkey. If the monkey proceeds to climb up the rope, what will happen? Will the stone rise or fall? Heated discussion; break up of the party; no result. Can any of your readers help to settle this question?" In answer, the editor of the American Machinist says:—"We confess we see little room for discussion, as to whether the stone will rise or fall; but, precisely just what will happen to the monkey may be a question that is a little more complicated." What would happen to the stone, and why? is another question. Of course, the weight of the monkey would continue to balance the weight of the stone just the same.

By the P. & O. steamer Ceylon, which arrived yesterday from England there reached Hongkong the following additions to the garrison—25th Company Eastern Division, R.A.—Major W. Morris, Capt. W. Thwaites, Lieuts. W. L. Wilkinson, W. Loring and R. A. Castle, 2nd Lieut. E. W. Brown, and A. R. Hudson, 149 rank and file, 10 women and 14 children. For the Asiatic Auxiliary—One English non-com, and wife; for Staff Clerks Section, A.S.C.—Four non-coms. The gunners marched into barracks to the strains of their drum and file band, two sergeants acting as drum-drummers. The men were in full marching order and as they passed the various barracks their comrades gave them a hearty welcome. It was thought that coolies might have been provided to carry the men's kit bags, as it was pretty hard that while so heavily equipped the new arrivals should have to carry them, as well as rifle, knapsack, &c. In certain service circles it is being asked whether the new company are likely to be sent to Wei-hai-wei.

MR. COPELAND, at the conclusion of an address on federation at the Cenotaph Hall, Sydney, recently referred to the war between America and Spain. He said that it was sadly to be deplored that those countries were going to war but when they remembered that the United States was a nation that had sprung from the same loins as themselves their sympathies should be with its people. When the sun rose to-morrow their brother Anglo-Saxons would begin a war, and what the result would be no one could say. It was not for them to inquire into the reasons which prompted America. If their own brother were in trouble they would ask no questions, but take off their coats and join in the fight. They would not have to do that in this case, because Brother Jonathan can fight his own battle. He thought, however, of the night before the battle they should give some expression of sympathy to their brothers in the United States, and he asked the audience to give three singing cheers for them. Mr. Copeland's remarks were taken up by the meeting, and three lusty cheers were given.

ANOTHER KOBE ASSAULT CASE.

Certain of the Japanese who would be offended at being styled coolies are more offensive and dangerous, it sometimes seems, than those who belong to that ignorant class. A case in point occurred recently when a party of five or six young ladies, and one gentleman were violently assaulted, with absolutely no provocation, in Liado's Grove. The two chief assailants were quite respectfully dressed, but they were apparently drunk; and a third beast joined in for the fun of the thing. The former came down the pathway from the Moon Temple, as the foreigners passed into the grove. One of them struck a lady in passing, and the gentleman interfered. Then a shower of stones was thrown, and this was followed up by a dangerous onslaught. One of the curs seized a Japanese who happened to be lying near and used it with seemingly mortal intent, although wildly irresponsible of his drunken condition. The ladies ran while the gentleman faced the attack, and got badly hurt in keeping the ruffians at bay. He had hardly to take to his heels also and was hotly pursued. Most fortunately another walking party, one gentleman and two ladies, was met, and while the ladies were all spent ahead the two men protected the rear. This arrangement was evidently too much for the brave Japanese who turned tail before this combined force and disappeared. The object of their violence was to obtain medical treatment on his return to Kobe, his leg being badly almost incapacitated. Things are going from bad to worse, and foreigners will soon have to take the law into their own hands; if they do it is quite certain the wretched cowards that persist in these outrages when strong in numbers will not always get the best of it.—Hogo News.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT TO THE "PASIG."

NARROW ESCAPE FROM SINKING.

The Chinese-owned steamer Pasig, a vessel of 184 tons, commanded by Capt. G. Ritchie, had a remarkably narrow escape from sinking when nearing her wharf to-day. She is a regular trader between Canton and Hongkong and at 7 a.m. to-day she returned from one of her usual trips with a large cargo of Chinese produce. When off the new stone pier near the foot of Cottenger Street, Capt. Ritchie was going slow in order to run out his stern line. Another steamer was just outside of him and he had to come within 6 ft. of the outer end of the new stone pier. No shock or grating was felt by any one on board but suddenly one of the crew came up from the fore hold and reported that the vessel was making water in great quantities. The Chinese crew at once went over the side with their blankets and bedding and found a great hole in the bottom just forward of amidships on the starboard side. They plugged the hole at first but they could not get their bedding and the main engine was at once disconnected with the pumps. So great was the rush of water that the vessel went down at the head and her draught forward was about 12 ft. The Captain says that he was highly displeased with his crew, who he said worked like professional divers, and he also states that had there been a delay of a couple of minutes the vessel must have sunk. The cargo in the fore hold is very considerably damaged. Pumping and unloading were carried out when the vessel got to her wharf, and later on she went into dock. When the water was got down somewhat this hole could be seen; it was fully 3 ft. in length.

As to the cause of this strange mishap Captain Ritchie says she must have struck some piece of stone or granite off the pierhead that had been deposited there by the Piers Reclamation workmen and he has heard to-day that even small launches have scraped this obstruction when passing the pier. At any time the wharf is an extremely awkward one to come alongside, owing to the large number of sampans and cargo boats that are always dodging about there, and with this added danger it has become a very serious matter indeed. The authorities, if they were aware that these stones were lying submerged, should have taken steps to have had them removed, or if they are necessary for the support of the pier some piles should have been driven outside of them to prevent shipping coming to grief on them. An enquiry will probably be held and a good deal of interest will attach to the result.

THE SITUATION IN MANILA.

(From Our Resident Correspondent.)

MANILA, May 10th.

The 7th was the twelfth birthday of the King of Spain, and it was celebrated by the firing of salutes, morning and evening, from the Manila batteries.

There is little to chronicle here, beyond the fact that food is growing scarcer than ever and that the Spaniards are unable to preserve any sort of order in the town. They, the Spaniards, say that all the influential Indians have come over to their side, having been promised all the reforms that they demand and also that the priests shall be expelled from the Archipelago.

The Americans have seized two small gunboats, which came up from the south and sailed right into the Bay totally unaware that anything was wrong, and that the Americans were in possession of Cavite.

We have had no news from the outer world except a telegram by way of Borneo bringing favourable news from Cuba, though what the favourable news may be has not been made public.

The Spaniards are still as arrogant as ever, and are convinced that the Americans will never be able to land. They have no idea of surrendering and state that they will fight to the last gasp, and I believe they will. We have heard that a force of five thousand men is on the way from San Francisco, but this has by no means damped the ardour of the Spaniards. Four ironclads are reported to be on the way from Spain and the report has been spread about that the Americans are short of ammunition.

The German Consul is being closeted for hours with the Captain-General, and a report has gone round to the effect that a German steamer with cargo and provisions, was outside on the 15th, but was not allowed to enter by the Americans. The Captain-General is stated to have told an American reporter that the Commander of one of the German cruisers threatened to force a passage for the German steamer if the Americans prevented her entering the Bay, but this of course is all nonsense, and just serves to show the sort of idle rumours that are in circulation.

I met Don Juan de Ayala, the Captain of the Don Juan de Ayala, the other day, and he told me that the Spanish fleet was in a shocking state when the Americans arrived. The Castilla and Ulloa had their machinery broken down at the time, the latter having only two guns that could be used, while the former, so old and leaky that it needed all her engine power to keep her afloat. The El Duro had but one gun, and was of less than two-hundred tons displacement. The Atala Luzon and Isle de Cuba had only one protected deck, and the Yuan de Austria had three guns, one of which was useless. The Spanish Commanders knew well that fighting was hopeless, but they fought because they knew that public opinion would turn against them otherwise. The fleet did not surrender during the first attack, and had the Americans not withdrawn from the engagement when they did, they, the Spaniards, would have gone out to meet them and died to a man. The Spanish fleet was drawn up in a line across the entrance of Cavite Bay in the following order, commencing from the northern end of the line: Duro, Don Juan de Austria, Don Juan de Ulloa, Castilla, Reina Christina, Isle de Luzon and Isle de Cuba.

The courage was faithful, the Reina Christina, Castilla and Don Juan de Austria, accounting for most of the losses. There were over a thousand men in the Spanish fleet, and more than four hundred were killed and wounded.

The following is a copy of an order posted on the vessels of American fleet at Manila. —

"That the thanks of Congress and the American people are hereby extended through Commodore Dewey to the officers and men under his command for the gallantry and skill exhibited by them on that occasion.

"This act having been approved by the President of the United States on May tenth, you have been commissioned Rear Admiral. The President has taken great pleasure in transmitting this information to you which you will convey to officers and men under your command. —

It is reported that Major General Merritt, who served in the civil war, has been appointed Governor-General of the Philippines, and has sailed from San Francisco in one of the ships conveying troops, accompanied by Major-General Otis and Anderson.

The Baltimore and Caliso have been ordered to Hilo to recapture the American ship Saranak which was taken by a Spanish gunboat.

Consul General Wildman is daily receiving applications from American subjects anxious to volunteer for the war.

It is reported that the Caroline Islands are in revolt, and that they will shortly be in the hands of the rebels, the Spanish garrison being small and no reinforcements available.

MAT SALLER AGAIN ON THE WAR PATH.

It is now evident that the British North Borneo Government have again "struck a snag," insinuating that the Mat Salleh episode had come to a satisfactory conclusion.

Not only has that rebel leader again backed out of his newly-sworn allegiance, and that in a specially pregnant manner, but he has taken steps to re-assert his leadership of the Company in the Gay district, lately the scene of one of his bold exploits.

Yesterday, it appears information reached Singapore by wire from Labuan that Mr. Wise, one of the E. N. B. officials, who seems to be now at Gaya, had reported by letter to the Resident of Labuan, Mr. Little, that Mat Salleh had again assumed an attitude of open hostility. He had come down to the Insan River, with a large following, with the declared intention of breaking his made, the Dato Saba bandar, as ruling Chief of the district, and to no way under the jurisdiction of the Chartered Company. Mr. Wise had apparently gone to try and come to terms with Mat Salleh, this, under the new circumstances, a distinctly risky proceeding.

Meanwhile Mr. William Cowie is on his way from Labuan to Singapore, happy to assurance that he has pacified Mat Salleh, and solved all the Company's difficulties. The Liberal, with Mr. Cowie, arrives here to-morrow, and that gentleman whose passage home has been taken by Friday's mail, will be greatly disillusioned on receiving the gist of the telegram received yesterday in Singapore. The screw will probably demand Mr. Cowie's instant return to North Borneo. It certainly means the opening of a fresh chapter of trouble and expense to the Company, and it may involve the employment of a larger force than has yet been made use of, in the successive efforts to capture this turbulent native chief.

H. M. S. Swift has returned to Hongkong, and there is now no British gunboat on the coast. Whether the Flower may be detached for duty at Labuan, on the arrival of H. M. S. Hermsford (the Colonel is a day house, is not known).

The British North Borneo Company are not yet nearly "out of the wood" over this Mat Salleh business. — Singapore Free Press.

THE PLAGUE.

During the 24 hours up to noon, 26th May, 15 new cases and 6 deaths from plague were reported, making the total since 1st January (145 days), 1,765 cases and 1,017 deaths.

A correspondent writes to the Rangoon Times: —

"It is a most conscientiously accurate study on the bubonic plague in the Chinese province of Szechuen, the results of the 60,000, a collection of the results has described the character, the cause, and the effects of the most terrible scourge. Then, pointing to the fact that the native physicians had confessed their powerlessness to cope with it, he makes mention of several missionaries who had used ipecacuanha with great success. 'Two days ago,' adds the writer, 'I had the opportunity of questioning on that subject one of these missionaries, Father Seguin, who is at present Director of the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception at Blevue, and he expressed the great belief that a collection of ipecacuanha to more than a thousand of plague-stricken persons, and that one and all of them had been saved; while on the other hand, the greater number of those who had not employed this remedy had succumbed. The dose of ipecacuanha administered to the sick varies according to the age of patient and the gravity of the case; the stage of the malady and its progress are taken into account as also the more less alarming nature of the symptoms. The dose varies from 10 to 20 grammes (fifteen to thirty grains) administered at one time, or more frequently at short intervals, according to the dose and the effects produced. These effects are of two kinds: in most cases the patient experiences nauseous qualms, then vomiting of purulent matter, besides effusions of the same.' Sometimes there is no vomiting, but only the effusions; this is a good sign but less safe than the preceding. Ipecacuanha having the inconvenience of being a bitter drug, it has been found that if a little sugar, a remedy more in keeping with the scanty purity of the missionary. Unfortunately the change was no success. At least it had no little effect as to serve to establish that no emetic whatever is to be considered equivalent to ipecacuanha."
